1984	Alvin D. Lichtenstein	Dismissal	The Commission on Judicial Discipline alleged that, during a sentencing hearing in a second-degree murder case, District Judge Alvin D. Lichtenstein made remarks that undermined public confidence in the judiciary and brought the judiciary into disrepute, in violation of Canon 2A of the Colorado Code of Judicial Conduct. The Commission recommended a public reprimand. The Colorado Supreme Court found that "Although the sentencing comments contain some phraseology which, when read in isolation, might have offended the sensibilities of others, the full context of the sentencing hearing indicates that the choice of words was no more than an awkwardly executed effort to place on record the confused and highly emotional state of the defendant at the time of the killing, which, in the judge's opinion, constituted a mitigating circumstance justifying a sentence below the presumptive range. The judge's comments were not intended to be disrespectful of the law, the victim, or anyone else; nor [did] they reasonably lend themselves to such a connotation in the full context of the hearing." The Supreme Court of Colorado concluded that the judge's remarks did not violate Canon 2A, rejected the Commission's recommendation for public reprimand, and directed the Commission to dismiss the complaint. 			Eagle County District Judge William L. Jones was publicly reprimanded after a formal evidentiary hearing for delaying the issuance of a decision in an uncomplicated civil case for over two years after it was submitted for decision. This misconduct was aggravated by the fact that Judge Jones received multiple inquiries from the parties asking for a decision in the case, and he had previously been privately reprimanded for similar delays. Judge Jones was publicly reprimanded for violating Canon 3 A(5) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, which requires prompt disposition of court business, and Colo. RJD 5(a)(2), which addresses willful or persistent failure to perform judicial duties.	District Court Judge	5th - Clear Creek, Eagle, Lake, Summit
			By agreement with the Colorado Commission on Judicial Discipline, County Court Judge Robert A. Rand stipulated to his resignation and public censure based on the following misconduct: (1) joking inappropriately about the physical appearance of attorneys and Judicial Department staff with whom he interacted, (2) engaging in ex parte communications with lawyers about plea negotiations, (3) failing to recuse in a case where a party's sister was the judge's paralegal, and (4) engaging in off-the-record conversations with parties about their cases after the conclusion of hearings. Judge Rand was publicly censured for violating Canon Rules 1.2 (appearance of impropriety), 2.8 (demeanor towards counsel and court staff), 2.9 (ex parte communications), and 2.11 (disqualification).	County Court Judge	8th - Jackson, Larimer
			The Colorado Supreme Court approved the dismissal of disciplinary proceedings against County Court Judge Jonathan L. Walker after he agreed to retire, effective February 15, 2017. The Supreme Court ordered that the	County Court	4th - El Paso,

A wooden signpost stands in a vast, arid desert landscape under a clear blue sky. The signpost is made of two vertical wooden posts and two horizontal crossbars. A large, dark brown wooden sign with a serrated edge is mounted on the crossbars. The sign features the text "WELCOME TO" on the first line, "COLORFUL" on the second line, and "COLORADO" on the third line, all in white, bold, sans-serif capital letters. A small white star is visible on the left side of the sign, near the word "COLORFUL". The desert floor is covered in dry, yellowish-brown grass and shrubs. In the background, there are low, rolling hills and mountains under a clear blue sky.

2025 Data and Statistics

Number of RFEs Continues to Grow

This total does not include:

- 179 inquiries about Federal Judges, Magistrates, and others outside the Commission's Jurisdiction; and
- 265 similar RFEs about the same judge and incident resulting from viral social media posts.

Number of RFEs Continues to Grow

Factors leading to this increase:

- RFEs from new sources, including attorneys and other professionals;
- Continued increase in referrals from Judicial Department; and
- Increased public awareness from news coverage.

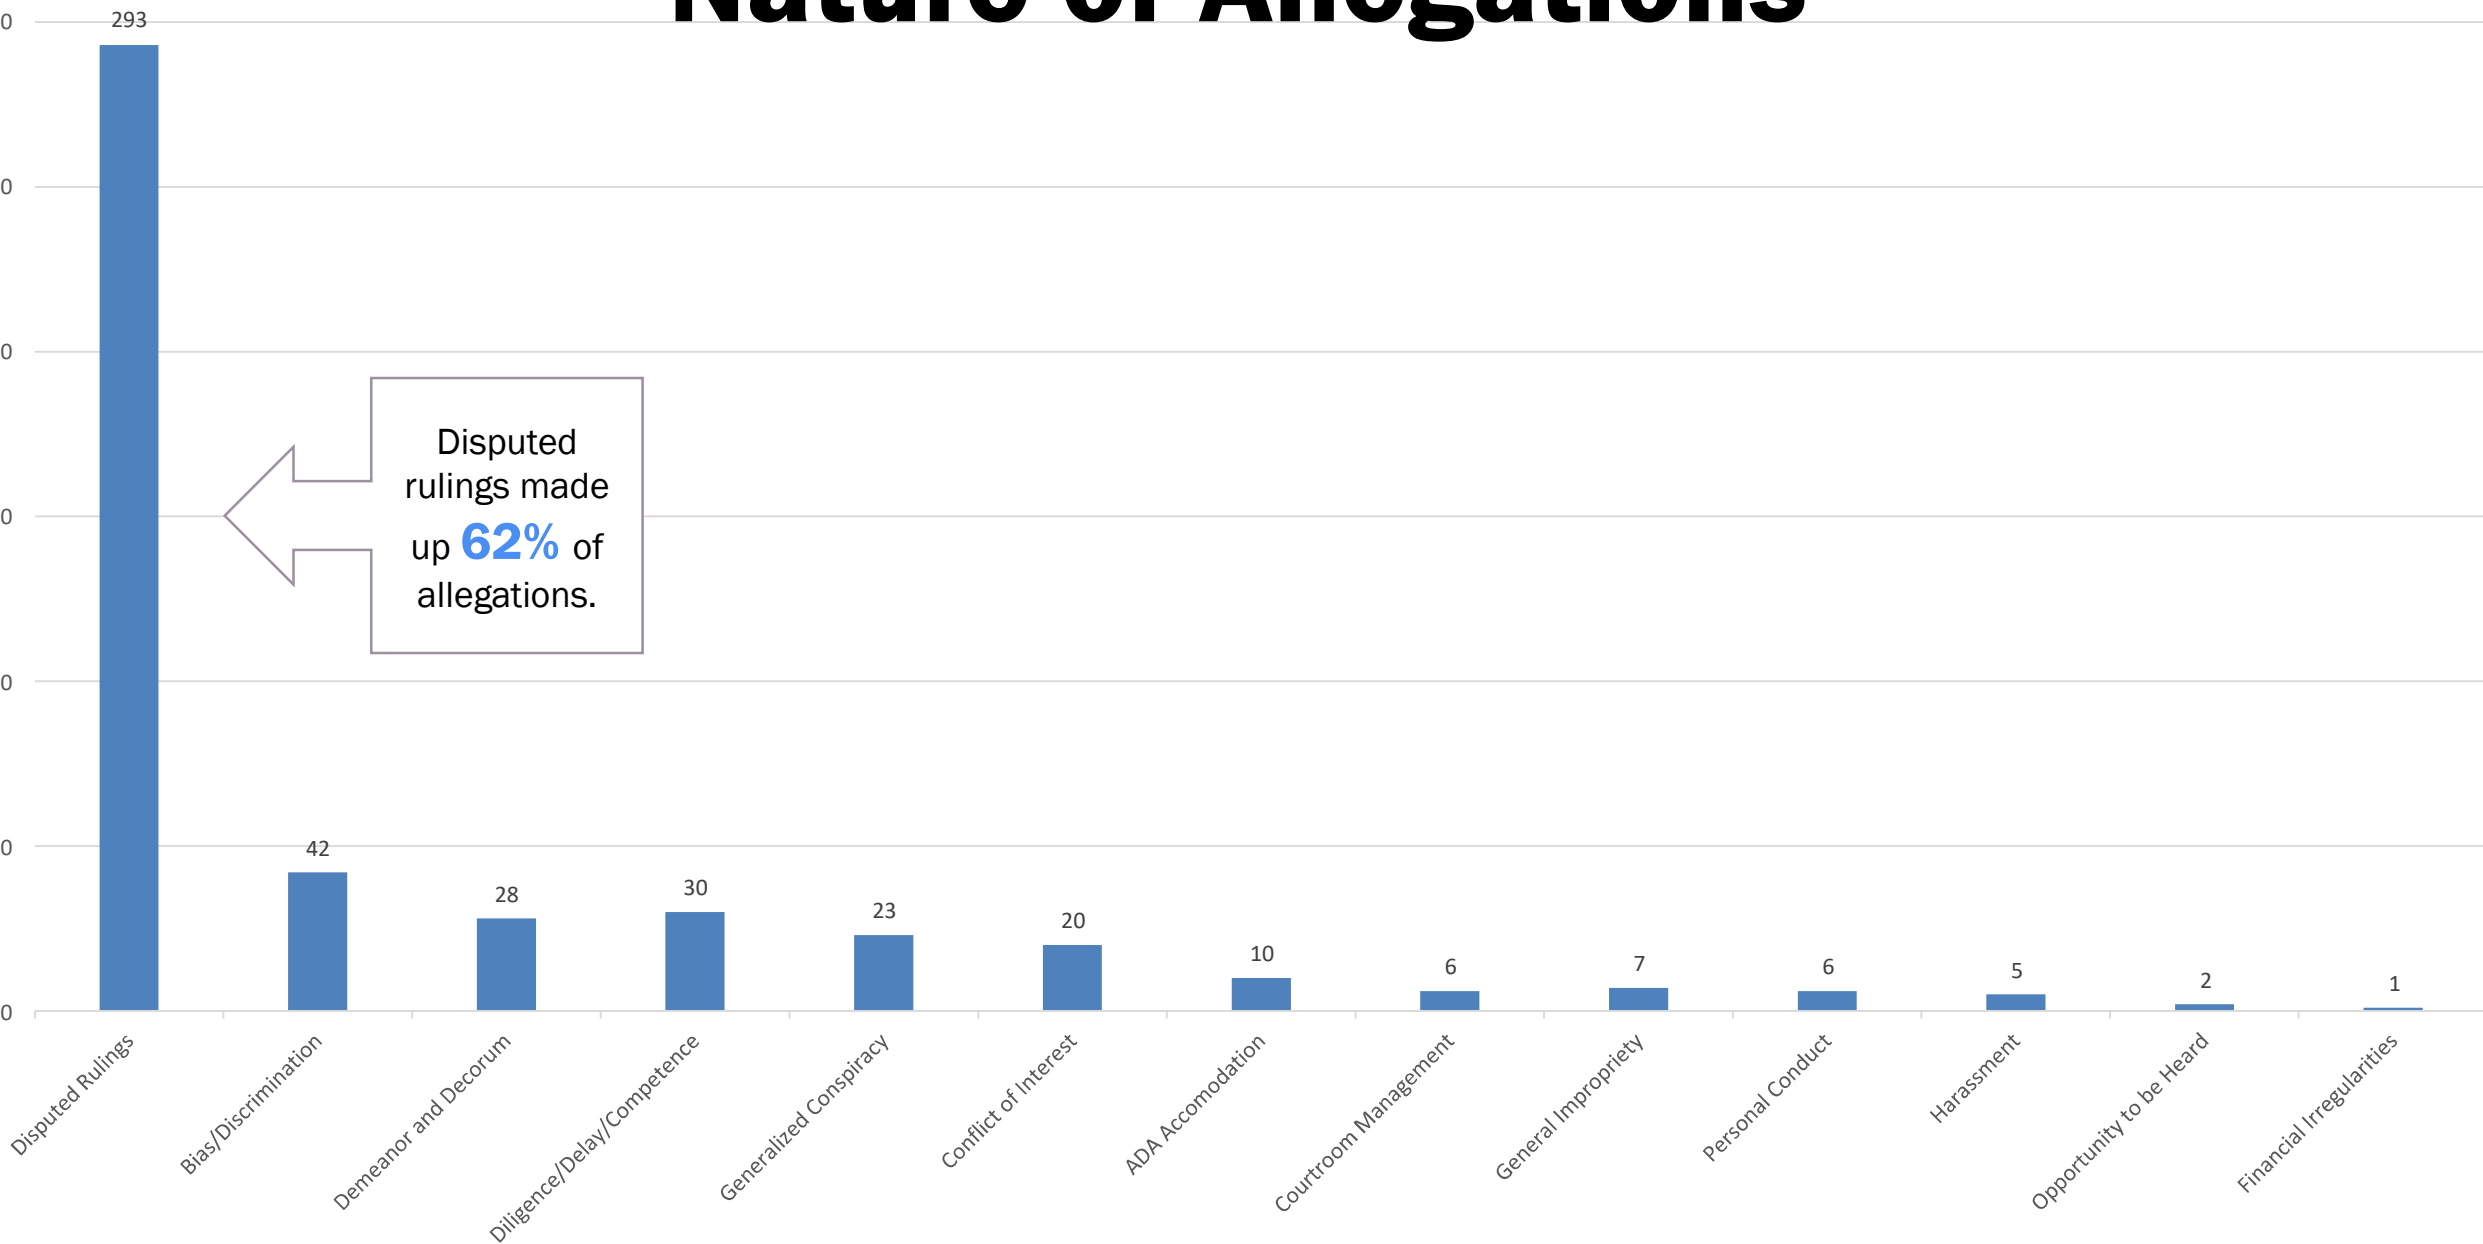

Number of Cases Considered by the Commission

- Colorable allegations of misconduct have increased, but not at the same rate.
- Commission considered 31 RFEs in 2025.
- Historical average: 17 RFEs per year (based on 2015 through 2021).
- Unusual number of RFEs considered in 2024 due to 48 Personal Financial Disclosure matters.

2025 Discipline

- 31 matters brought before the Commission.
- 18 matters dismissed without discipline.
- 3 matters dismissed “with concern.”
- 3 diversion agreements initiated or completed in 2025.
- Private discipline imposed in 3 cases.
- 3 formal proceedings initiated or completed in 2025.

2025 Trends and Patterns

Delays Continue to be a Concern:

- 8 of the 31 matters considered by the Commission involved delayed orders.
- Delays are often driven by overwhelm, workloads, personal stresses.

Increased use of Diversion Agreements:

- Commission may require monitoring, mentorship, education or other means to address underlying causes.
- Matter dismissed upon successful completion.

Rural Judges:

- Rural judges often have fewer opportunities for informal support and mentorship.
- Part-time County Court judges are especially likely to miss out on opportunities to learn from colleagues.

Judicial Experience Levels:

- New judges experience a steep learning curve.
- Experienced judges are more likely to suffer from burnout and compassion fatigue.

2026: What's Next

Continued outreach to the public

- We saw in 2025 how impactful outreach and education is, and we plan to continue these efforts in 2026
- More trainings for judges and attorneys
- Outreach to local law schools
- Continue to expand efforts to reach other legal professionals and litigants

Rulemaking Continues

- The Commission is independent from the Judicial Discipline Rule-Making Committee
- We look forward to seeing more revised rules in 2026
